The countries where we may need to transfer data may not by law provide the same level of data protection as the laws within the EEA. We will ensure that any such international transfers are made in accordance with applicable legal requirements and subject to appropriate safeguards as required by GDPR, such as by using EU Standard Contractual Clauses adopted by the European Commission, pursuant to the recipient's compliance with EU-US Privacy Shield (or Swiss-US Privacy Shield, as applicable) or other safeguards recognized by the European Commission. D. COOKIE POLICY

1. WHAT ARE COOKIES AND HOW ARE THEY USED?

We use a technology called “cookies” as part of a normal business procedure. A cookie is a small text file that websites send to a visitor's computer or other Internet-connected device to uniquely identify the visitor's browser or to store information or settings on the device. Cookies are then sent back to the originating website on each subsequent visit, or to another website that recognizes that cookie. Cookies are useful because they allow a website to recognize a visitor's device and to target the content displayed to the visitor's interests. Cookies are not executable code and can only be read by you and the website that created them. You can view and edit the cookies on your computer or device like any other text file using a text editor (the contents are usually just strings of unique identifiers and date/timestamps). The website that created the cookie can read the contents when you are at their website.

Cookies are widely used across the internet; you may have hundreds of cookies on your computer at any one time. Each browser has its own set of cookies so if you run multiple browsers you will have multiple sets of cookies on your computer or device.

2. COOKIES IN USE ON THIS WEBSITE

We use cookies to make a user's experience of our website more efficient and to improve your browsing experience. We use Google Analytics, which are third-party cookies that allow us to analyze how users use our website, for example, by counting the number of visitors to the website and calculating the average number of pages a user views. The data we obtain from Google Analytics is valuable in helping us to improve the performance, design and content of the website. Analytic cookies such as Google Analytics may collect information about your device type, operating system type, browser type, domain, other system settings, IP address, referring URLs, information on actions taken on our website and the dates and times of your visits, as well as the country and time zone in which your device is located. These cookies are provided by our third-party analytics tool provider (Google Analytics) and the information obtained through these cookies will be disclosed to, or collected directly by, this third-party service provider. For more detailed information about Google Analytics' cookie and information practices (including the types of cookies used and their expiration date), please visit the following link:

<https://developers.google.com/analytics/devguides/collection/analyticsjs/cookie-usage>.

If at any time you wish to restrict or disable our cookies you may do so through the settings on your browser. These settings allow you to specify which cookies you will accept by type and often by specific websites using an exception list; for example, you can block all cookies and then list the website from which you will accept cookies. You can view and change your cookie settings, or delete existing cookies from your browser, at any time. Please note, however, that withdrawing your agreement to the use of cookies on our website will impair the functionality of the website.

E. UPDATES TO THIS PRIVACY POLICY

We may make changes to this Privacy Policy from time to time in order to reflect any changes to the way in which we process your personal information or changes in applicable law or regulatory requirements. If we make material changes to this Privacy Policy, we will notify you by updating the date of this Privacy Policy and posting it on our website. Any changes to this Privacy Policy will be effective upon our posting of the modified Privacy Policy (or as otherwise indicated at the time of posting).

We encourage you to review this Privacy Policy periodically to be informed of how we use your personal information.
